Data protection notice

Once the device is connected to the Internet, it automatically contacts the Gigaset provisioning server to make it easier for you to configure the devices.

For this purpose, the system sends the following information when it is started and then every day:

- Serial number/item number
- MAC address
- IP address
- Device name
- Software version

On the provisioning server, this information is linked to the existing device-specific information:

- System-related/device-specific passwords
